A defining hallmark of the University of Dayton Student Development Graduate Assistant Program is the strong dedication to challenging each person to develop morally, intellectually, spiritually and professionally to enact the University’s Commitment to Community in all facets of life.

Our graduate assistants commit themselves to building inclusivity, respect and integrity, all while integrating learning and living at the University of Dayton. Aligned with the Commitment to Community, our graduate assistants enter a strong network supported by mentors and supervisors who challenge and engage personal and professional growth and the GA cohort, formed through social and professional events offered outside of the classroom.

Student Development GAs are valued as contributing staff members, serving on impactful University committees, shaping the University of Dayton community through their roles, and preparing for success in their career following graduate school.

“We know graduate school is a big step, so we plan events for our GAs to socialize, network and get to know one another outside the office. Our GAs hold weekly lunches along with other outings and events throughout the year including BBQ cook-outs, Dayton Dragon’s games, group dinners and ice cream socials.”

“Professional Development We’re here to support your professional development – on and off campus! Our competency-based development program prepares students for their next professional role. We offer monthly sessions that tie classroom learning to the assistantship and prepare our grads for the job search and networking.”

“I was not only supported, but also encouraged to work in other areas which I was passionate about, which further validated my student affairs career choice.” - GA Alum

“The Division of Student Development at the University of Dayton enables their graduate assistants to act, learn through experience, and develop their skills. This has helped me in my career because I am more confident in my ability to fulfill my job responsibilities and exceed expectations because I have already experienced so much because of my graduate assistantship.” - GA Alum
