Dear Flyers,

This past year serving as President of SGA has truly been the honor of a lifetime. When I began my career at UD, I never imagined I would be blessed with this role and I truly hope I have not let anyone down who has supported me throughout the years. I am so thankful and I could not be more proud of the accomplishments of the organization this year; SGA has worked extensively to increase outreach and strategically refine relationships with the administration.

Specifically, the outreach of SGA has extended to an all-time high thanks to the incredible work of our Vice President of Communication Rhyan Pearson, Maddi Cooperrider and her committee, and every SGA member who acted as an “SGA Cheerleader”. This year, thanks to the efforts of Elections Chair Sophia Spooner, we saw an incredible turnout for the Spring Elections and, surpassing last year’s record of 22.5%, this year’s 44.1% shattered all expectations for student participation and we couldn’t be more appreciative or excited. With the creation of the Sustainability Student Leadership Council, SGA has also seen an increase in outreach with the leaders of every sustainability organization and department on campus. In addition, two new committees began their groundbreaking work. The Mental Health and Disability Advocacy committees have expanded the reach of SGA to areas of campus that had previously seen little of our organization. In addition, these committees advocated for their own interest areas, thus fulfilling the mission of the organization in an impressive way. At the end of the year, SGA also created the Campus Safety Committee, and I couldn’t be more excited to see what this committee accomplishes next year.

In terms of SGA’s relationship with the administration, this year has been slightly challenging. Campus saw the University cut ties with Dayton2Daytona, the placement of St. Patrick’s Day over spring break, the prohibition of students from returning to campus before 3pm on St. Patrick’s Day. Although these decisions were controversial amongst students, SGA was able to handle these challenges of advocating for and communication with students in a beneficial and positive way. Following these decisions, SGA immediately went to work to bring back a major music festival on campus. On April 27th, SGA and CAB hosted the Senior Send-Off and Student Music Festival. In addition, SGA compelled the administration to agree to communicate better with students and to involve students in decisions that will affect them.

This has truly been a historic year for SGA. Our campus outreach has reached an all-time high. We have hosted and co-hosted more PATH-eligible events for students than ever before. We have created three new SGA committees. We have held a record-breaking election. We have accomplished all of our administration promises in regards to wellness, progress, and transparency. We have strived to and succeeded in furthering our mission every single day. I wake up every day thankful to be a Flyer and grateful to be President of this incredible organization. I could not be more excited to see how SGA progresses further next year alongside Tyler Clogg as my newly elected Vice President. Thank you for an incredible year and be on the lookout for continued progress next year!

As always, Go Flyers!

-Bryan Borodkin

Introduction

Dear Flyers,

Serving as Vice President this year has been the most wonderful experience that I have had to date.

This year we placed a lot of emphasis on the importance of mental health, public safety, and transparency initiatives. Through the creation of the Campus Clarity program, we were able to bring administrators and students together to discuss hot topics on campus. This series is something that I was specifically passionate about, as bringing together voices across campus to discuss happenings is critical.

As leaders on campus, SGA has striven and will continue to strive to create those spaces to foster productive dialogue. Also, we hope that the newly implemented Senior Send-Off and Spring Concert will soon be considered a campus tradition. This new event will help foster the community feeling that we all hold so close to our hearts.

This year SGA has done a wonderful job of working as one cohesive, tight-knit group which truly made it a very fun and successful year. I look forward to seeing what the organization does in the future!

My goal with SGA is to help this campus unify and hear the students, making it an advantageous environment for everyone. As the Vice President of Finance I perform these tasks: Maintain up-to-date financial records, compile monthly reports, and present reports at the end of each term, periodically update the Senate on the financial condition of the UD Student Government Association, audit monthly transactions to ensure consistency within our funds ($100,000 +), dealing with 120 + organizations.

This year, we...

- Allocated budget of almost $200,000
- Awarded various organizations over $96,000
- Completed 20 Special Requests for organizations to help them achieve goals, attend events and create programming

This year was a very successful one in terms of communications and outreach. Coming into this academic year, we wanted to expand the ways in which SGA communicated with the student body as well as how we publicized events and initiatives. We are looking forward to another successful year in 2019 and 2020!

Goals:

- Expand SGA's social media following
- Engage more with students on all platforms
- Make weekly Senate meetings accessible to as many students as possible
- Improve number and consistency of social media posts and press releases
- Work closely with SGA committees to create promotional graphics
- Strengthen relationship with University Marketing and Communications to work closely together in the future.

Achievements:

- Began live-streaming Senate meetings and SGA events using Mevo platform, reaching many students and attracting attention of alumni, staff, faculty and Board members
- Worked with Special Programs Committee to promote and create graphics for SGA programming and events
- Greatly increased social media following
- Engaged students on every platform (email, social media, in person)
- Wrote multiple press releases on important events in the world and community
- Worked closely with University Marketing and Communications to review content of publicized messages
- Took over creation of the SGA Annual Report

2018 American Student Government Association National Summit
(Washington, D.C.)

This year, the Special Programs Committee facilitated a record number of events, with a wide range of topics. We are also looking forward to even more programming and student engagement in the future!

Goals:

- Facilitate informative and productive events which are open to all students on campus
- Engage a wide range of students
- Promote events to reach as many students as possible

Signature Series (multiple events for each):

- Tough Talks
- Campus Clarity (new this year)

Events:

- Student-Athlete Advisory Committee Panel
- Meet Your SGA
- Chaminade Hall Vision Forum
- Public Safety Advocates Launch Forum
- Student Rights and Understanding the Conduct System (with Student Advocates)
- An Inside Look Into YOUR Common Academic Program
- Meet Your Academic Representatives
- Speed Roommating
- Collaborated on Senior Send-Off Events:
 - Senior Brunch and Toast
 - SGA Student Music Festival
 - CAB Spring Concert featuring Chris Lane
- Last Day of Classes Ben and Jerrys

Standing Committees

The Academic Affairs Committee had a great year! Overall our goal was to better engage students and find what their real needs and concerns were in regards to their academics. We accomplished this by first hosting two PATH eligible events. The first was “Meet Your Academic Representatives,” where our committee spoke to students about what we do, our goals and then we broke out into small groups to get their feedback. This was a very successful event and we hope it will continue for next year. Our second event had representatives from the Common Academic Program (CAP) come speak to students about the program’s background and then receive feedback from them. This was great because now more students have a better understanding of their degrees and the CAP administrators have feedback they can work with.

We also were able to accomplish even more. During finals week in the fall, we handed out SGA stress balls and free hot chocolate in KU to our students. Rowen Gray, our Humanities Representative, worked with the College to have a weekly study space for Humanities’ students at Heritage Coffeeshouse. Our other representatives were also great in engaging their constituents and school administrators on a daily basis. We are ending the year by helping cover the cost for a student to attend and present her research at a conference in Washington D.C. this summer. Overall it was an amazing year and we are happy to have made great strides forward!

Marianist Involvement

This year the Director of Marianist Involvement and his committee have made great strides for the future. The Director has made sure to establish a connection with Campus Ministry and have a member of the Campus Ministry staff on his committee for a strong and frequent source of communication. The Director and his committee plan to continue to this connection and strengthen it in the future.

In terms of events, the committee hosted the first ever “Chaminade Celebration,” an event that attracted over 300 people. This event focused on the life and legacy of Father Chaminade and took place on his feast day (January 22). We plan to continue this event next year with new ideas and ways to build off of this year’s progress. Finally, we (as well as the rest of SGA) helped to put on the annual Fish Fry with Campus Ministry. The Director sat on the Fish Fry planning committee and made sure that volunteers showed up and knew what their assigned tasks were. This event was also successful with 350 people served and closer to 400 people showing up to listen to the music and absorb the atmosphere. Overall, the Director and his committee are grateful for the ability to serve the UD community and uphold the Marianist values that make the University of Dayton so great.

Accomplishments:

- Held a “Meet Your Sustainability Leaders” forum where student and faculty leaders facilitated a discussion about what they do, programs they offer and what initiatives students want to see on campus.
- Along with leaders of SGA and HSI, formed the Sustainability Student Leadership Council to connect leaders with open discussion in monthly meetings. This allows different groups to collaborate, share, and plan for UD’s sustainable future.
- Created a workshop for UD clubs to align their club missions and goals with the UN’s Sustainable Development goals. This initiative also includes a newsletter that describes what clubs are included and what goals they are trying to achieve.
- Partnered with RHA to hold the “Sustainability Call to Action” forum for students living in UD housing to help find small changes in their lives that can move toward sustainability.
- Helped Sustainability Club with events for EarthFest including a craft table, transportation signage, and set-up.
- Provided reusable straws to Flyer Enterprises so they could gauge student interest in making the campus more sustainable. This effort helps connect the sustainability mission with economics and shows that it can be beneficial to all.

Goals for the Future:

- Continue the Sustainability Student Leadership Council with the other leaders in the years to come.
- Continue the workshop for clubs to integrate the Sustainable Development Goals into club missions and the accompanying newsletter.
- Help HSI with the neighborhood composting program.

Issues and Bylaws

The Issues and Bylaws Committee met several times this year to better understand and revise the Student Government Bylaws. Senators Jacob Troutwine, Jake Jagels, and Nick Oesterling and Sergeant at Arms Duke Tobin made up the committee and used their knowledge of both Student Government and the University of Dayton community to prepare revisions to propose to the rest of the Senate. Some of the major revisions included the addition of both the Mental Health Committee and the Disability Advocacy Committee and their duties, revisiting and rewording the Campus Unity Committee’s role as a whole, and the addition of a Class Representative duty of serving on at least one standing committee at all times. These revisions passed with a unanimous vote of the Senate in mid-January.

Mental Health

We first established a brief but concise mission statement on October 1st for the committee that reads “The primary mission of this committee is to advocate for reduced stigmatization of mental health issues, increase awareness of such issues, and promote a healthy mental lifestyle. This committee also aims to educate students in these issues and encourage dialogue between students.”

On October 10th for World Mental Health Day we collected nearly 150 signatures from people who signed the “Stigma Free Pledge” to reduce stigma around mental illness. Those who pledged received a green ribbon and a flyer with mental health related information and a copy of the pledge.

In November we were committed to the theme of thankfulness. Research shows there are tremendous mental health benefits to reflecting on the things you are grateful for. We created and distributed roughly 500 custom calendars that prompted students to write down something to be thankful for everyday in November.

We also hosted the “Take Action: Mental Health Workshop” PATH event in November. One-hundred and twenty (120) people participated in our workshop led by guest speaker Sarah Dewitt who spoke about various healthy mental health practices.

We designed “Lifeline Ribbons” and cards that we distributed to students and faculty to use as a medium of communication for those who have difficulty communicating verbally when something is wrong.

In February we held two PATH events. “Strength in Solidarity” featured Flora Igah from the counseling center who presented a PowerPoint on steps to reduce anxiety and other mental illness. This was followed by two students who shared their personal testimonies of their battles with mental illness and how they approach mental health. Eighty-eight (88) students attended. At the end of February we held the “Harmony in Health” panel event with various mental health figures on campus. The panel was a huge success with 150 students attending.

We played a pivotal role in promoting the Healthy Minds Survey and we were able to increase participation in the survey by 3%. We also have designed and ordered custom Mental Health committee shirts to spread the message of “Healing is not linear.” Currently we are working with Active Minds to assist with M-Fest.

This year, the Elections Committee successfully ran both Fall 2018 elections for Class Representatives as well as Spring Elections for President and Vice President, Directors, Academic Representatives and a Constitutional Amendment. There was a voter turnout of 14% and 44.1% for Fall and Spring elections, respectively, which are both record-setting numbers. The committee also put on a successful Presidents Forum, where President/VP tickets explained their platforms and answered questions from the audience, and held polling stations in Kennedy Union staffed by members of the committee and members of SGA who were not running for election. Overall, it was a very successful year and we look forward to similar results for next year!

Disability Advocacy

The goal of the Disability Advocacy Committee is to bring awareness to disability and disability related items to the campus community, as well as advocate for the disabled population among the undergraduate students.

Since this was its first year, the committee focused on forming itself, so it did not bring to fruition any events that would constitute as advocacy. The committee focused on what it will look like moving forward and has come up with a way to manage funds donated by the Tomassi Family, in addition to the funds provided by SGA.

Goals for the future:

- Promotional materials: this can include pens, stickers, magnets, “swag,” and potentially shirts for the committee members.
- Speakers: a speaker, if budgeted correctly, can be brought to campus once, perhaps twice a year. This speaker would present on disability in some fashion, and the goal is to raise awareness on the macro and micro scale. The macro scale would be about what people with disabilities encounter and the micro would be on how an individual can contribute to the betterment of people with disabilities at UD, their local community, and national community.
- Events: with whatever money remains, the committee can use it to provide events that promote disability awareness and advocacy. This is not fully envisioned what these events will look like, but that is the intention. This is up to the future committee to create events that they deem worthwhile in promoting advocacy for the campus community.
- As outlined in the legislation for this committee, it is required that the committee partake in the “Think This is Easy?” training provided by the Access Center for Independent Living. It is estimated that this training will cost approximately $700-$750. The Co-Chairs this year determined that this training be done twice a year: once in the Fall and once in the Spring. This cost was determined to accommodate 7-8 people. These people will automatically include the two (2) co-chairs, SGA President and VP, Committee Senator(s) (1-2). This cost is variable and can fluctuate. The Co-Chairs will attend each training.

Goals:

- Fall: Promote residential sustainability
- Spring: Help shape RHA into a resource to help residents balance their mental and physical health on campus, expand RHA's influence and make RHA's growth sustainable

Events:

- Sustainability Call to Action: This PATH-eligible event showed residents different ways they could live sustainably in their residences.
- Being Healthy Residents: This event was meant to promote different ways for residents to balance their spiritual, mental, social, and physical health and to help them develop conflict resolution skills.
- In addition to these events that we hosted, our committee was in support of any major events that the RHA Executive Board hosted such as: Fall Fest and the Sophomore Showcase.

Achievements:

- Fall
We managed to host a successful event that seemed to have a big impact on those who attended. We also managed to make sustainability a part of the agenda in early SGA meetings during the Spring 2018 semester.
- Spring
We helped create the Vice President of Residential Affairs position within RHA. This puts RHA in a position to work more effectively, efficiently, and cohesively in the future.
Our committee started the tradition of the RHA Committee of Residential Affairs releasing a survey for the student body to fill out every semester. This will allow RHA to directly understand the needs and wants of Residents to know which ways it should best advocate for them.

This year, the Campus Unity Committee continued its legacy as a driving force behind community dialogue and tackling important societal topics. The committee continued the Tough Talks Signature Series and facilitated a number of new events, including the Asian American Pacific Islander Community Panel in October, CADRE partnership and training events in January/February, OMA Voter Registration drive in November and film screenings of “Model Minority” and “The Shadow of Hate.”

Signature Series Events

- Tough Talks: Inclusive Community Language (LGTBQ+) - October
Co-hosted with LGBTQ+ Support Services and Office of Multicultural Affairs for CME Week
- Tough Talks: International Inclusivity - November
Discussion focused on global consciousness and ways we can be more inclusive of international students
- Tough Talks: Flight Check - January
Discussion on colorism, colorblindness and racial slurs
- Tough Talks: A Day In the Life with BATU - February
Facilitated dialogue about the Black Experience at UD and Black History Month
- Tough Talks: Intersectional Feminism with FemUD - February
Facilitated dialogue about intersectionality and the history of feminism
- Tough Talks: Race, Religion and American History with Welcome Dayton - January
UD Alumni community event (formerly known as Islamophobia Town Hall)

Accomplishments

- Added Asian American Association Representative Position to SGA - October
Joint position between the Campus Unity Committee and the AAA Executive Board
- AIM 4 survey events - November
Two PATH-eligible events to educate students about the efforts of the AIM 4 Community Excellence survey and encourage students to take it
- UDiversity Modules
Created new scenarios for the UDiversity Module to be released this June

Works-in-progress (as of April)

- Hate Doesn't Fly
Created a timeline of racial discrimination at UD by using Flyer News, the Yearbook, the University archives, and interviews of black alumni

Advocacy Projects

The University of Dayton's Student Government Association would like to thank some members of the UD community who were especially instrumental in making 2018-2019 such a successful year.

- Chris Fishpaw - Our advisor, without whose guidance it would be tough to work, and whose dedication and willingness to help us with our projects we will always be thankful and indebted to him for.
- Amy Lopez-Matthews - Our advisor, whose kind words and level head we envy and are thankful for. Her outlook into issues and guidance and support are always appreciated.
- Morgan Miller - The 2018-2019 SGA Graduate Assistant, whose humor and helpfulness are principal parts of the day-to-day operations of this organization. We wish him the best in the future and wherever he may go!
- Jack Pence and everyone at CSI - Thank you for putting up with almost relentless student organization and event registration questions. Your willingness to help us and sit down and explain solutions were very helpful and we are always impressed with your problem-solving skills.
- Danielle Page and AVIATE staff - Thank you for helping us to put on so many events and for helping us to fix our mistakes with event registrations and questions. We are in awe of the amount of work that you do and your commitment to the well being and co-curricular education of the UD students and community.
- The Office of Multicultural Affairs - Thank you for your endless willingness to collaborate and help us to facilitate tough but necessary and helpful conversations on campus.
- President Eric Spina - 19th President of the University of Dayton, for your continuous support and recognition of SGA's work. We are thankful for your willingness to collaborate and support us when we need it most.
- Vice President of Student Development Bill Fischer - Thank you for your willingness to sit down and help work through difficult situations with us. Your support and collaboration are very much appreciated!
- Dean of Students Chris Schramm - Thank you for being a voice for SGA when we are not heard, and supporting us in more ways than we can count.
- Chief of Police Rodney Chatman - Thank you for your willingness to work with us over and over again, as well as continue to engage with students.
- University Marketing and Communications - Thank you for helping us to find and refine our voice, as well as providing countless resources and suggestions.
- The UD Board of Trustees - Thank you for your guidance, acceptance and support as well as engagement throughout this year.
- and finally, the greater UD community and students - We would not exist or be able to do what we do without everyone in the community, and especially the students at UD. Thank you so much for allowing us to represent you and for staying involved. We cannot wait for the future!

Thank you for your contributions and support. We look forward to working together in the coming year!
